PRESS RELEASE

Inyett – new tenant at Wihlborgs’ Prisma office building in Helsingborg

In April 2022, the fintech company Inyett will move to new premises of 580 square metres at the Prisma (Ursula 1) office building in Oceanhamnen, Helsingborg. As such, the iconic office building is soon fully let.

Inyett is a fintech company within Visma that, by automating controls of payments and suppliers, helps companies to avoid hazards such as fraudulent invoices. The Helsingborg-based company with 30 employees is currently active in Sweden and Norway.

With the move, Inyett will be neighbours with another Visma company, Visma Financial Solutions, which will move into Prisma in the same period. Wihlborgs was able to announce this in September.

“However good your current premises in Helsingborg – Prisma is a real step up. We can now offer our employees fantastic premises that are centrally located. With more appropriate and flexible premises, we are also provided with improved preconditions for internal collaboration, which allows us to develop quicker as a company,” says Magnus Månsson, CEO of Inyett.

The proximity to Hetch was also a deciding factor behind Inyett’s decision. Hetch, Helsingborg’s tech-hub, operates a co-working model in which entrepreneurs and innovators with different backgrounds work side by side and can exchange knowledge and build networks.

The interest in Prisma is substantial and the building is soon fully let. The building already houses such companies as Atkins, Skandia and EY. At the end of September, the Varvsbron bridge connecting Oceanhamnen with Helsingborg Central Station was inaugurated.

“It is truly gratifying that Inyett realises that Prisma is the right location to be able to grow and develop. Prisma has a location and design that is hard to beat, but is also an increasingly strong meeting place for companies who are looking for innovation, stimulus and collaboration with other players,” says Ulrika Hallengren, CEO of Wihlborgs.
